
ACM TURNS 75!

ACM, the Association for Computing Machinery, is the world's largest educational and scientific society, uniting computing educators, researchers and professionals to inspire dialogue, share resources and address the field's challenges.

On the 15th of this month, Freddie Wayne, CMO of Hamming MicroTech, and Jade Williams, Senior Vice President of JMIT Technologies, were on the panel at this particular event. They discussed various issues central to the future of computing and its development. They projected what might be next for technology and society in the years to come.

Helena
Editor-in-Chief

ACM
Magazine