Good Morning, I am Michael Scarn, CEO of Hamming MicroTech. This mail is regarding an issue of immediate concern. Hamming Tech is under threat by someone who calls themselves "The B4ndit". They have already released a product blueprint for our most valuable client- The Seinfelds. They are demanding a million dollars by 8 am tomorrow. I believe this might be an insider's job because very few people have access to that information.

I have heard great things about you and your work. You are the best cyber security expert in the state. Owing to the situation in our company, I have no choice but to turn to you for help.
